

Partners providing resources to pets and their people can help create a Socially Conscious Animal Community by:

Developing programs and offering resources to families so pets can remain in the home

Identifying resource disparities within the community and strategically developing solutions to fill those gaps

Sharing information with the community to strengthen the human-animal bond

Collaborating with shelters and other animal welfare agencies to support people and their pets

Socially Conscious
Animal Community™